FACILITIES MATTER: THE CASE FOR 21ST CENTURY SCHOOLS

January 14, 2012
8:00am to 5:00 pm

Healthy, safe and sustainable school facilities positively impact educational outcomes, enhancing student and teacher performance and contributing to community culture and vitality. Today's global economy demands that our schools be equipped to teach 21st century skills to prepare students for the workforce of the future. However, the majority of our students spend most of their waking hours in deteriorating, unhealthy, overcrowded classrooms lacking the infrastructure for the technology that will enable them to master 21st century skills. Explore a variety of 21st century learning environments with experts in the field, learn about new funding mechanisms and discover how you can pave the way for all students in Hawaii to succeed.
